

Our Principles

Member congregations of the Unitarian Universalist Association covenant to affirm and promote:

- The inherent worth and dignity of every person;
- Justice, equity and compassion in human relations;
- Acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations;
- A free and responsible search for truth and meaning;
- The right of conscience and the use of the democratic process within our congregations and in society at large;
- The goal of world community, with peace, liberty, and justice for all; and
- Respect for the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part.

Our Spiritual Home

Our Sanctuary

A Fellowship of Respect, Compassion and Justice for All People

With historical roots in the Jewish and Christian traditions, our religion keeps an open mind to the spiritual questions people have asked for centuries. We are a non-creedal congregation. This means that we seek religious truth not from any book or religious authority, but through personal experience, conscience, and reason.

Our religion cares more for people's welfare, understanding, and potential than for creeds or dogma. It makes no distinction on the basis of ethnicity, nationality, or sexual orientation.

Our minister, Russell Elleven, also is an educator, and counselor. He holds a bachelor's degree in History and Religion from Texas Christian University, a master's degree in Theological Studies from Vanderbilt University Divinity School, a doctoral degree in Education and Counseling from the University of North Texas and a Doctor of Ministry degree from Meadville/Lombard UU Theological School.

Our services may be unlike any you have ever attended before. Here, you will have the chance to experience curiosity and comfort, reason and rejuvenation.

A Variety of Spiritual Growth Opportunities for a Variety of Ages

- Our Sunday worship speakers address thought-provoking topics with talks that are intelligent, inspirational and witty;
- We offer religious education programs for children, youth, and adults, plus childcare during most church events;
- We offer social activities which appeal to all ages and interests;
- Our social justice committee focuses on educating members and providing avenues for activism and service; and
- We have many other committees and groups that serve a variety of interests.
