

Our Principles

Member congregations of the Unitarian Universalist Association covenant to affirm and promote:

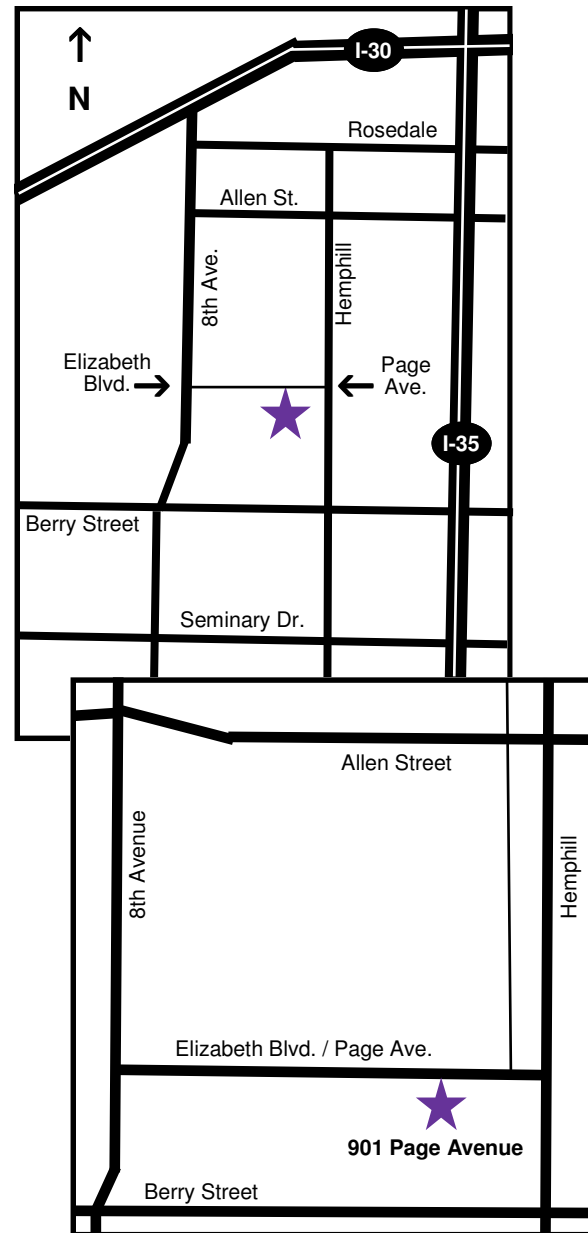

- The inherent worth and dignity of every person;
- Justice, equity and compassion in human relations;
- Acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations;
- A free and responsible search for truth and meaning;
- The right of conscience and the use of the democratic process within our congregations and in society at large;
- The goal of world community, with peace, liberty, and justice for all; and
- Respect for the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part.

“Many go fishing all their lives without knowing that it is not fish they are after.”

With historical roots in the Jewish and Christian traditions, our religion keeps an open mind to the spiritual questions people have asked for centuries. We are a non-creedal congregation. This means that we seek religious truth not from any book or religious authority, but through personal experience, conscience, and reason.

Our religion cares more for people's welfare, understanding, and potential than for creeds or dogma. It makes no distinction on the basis of ethnicity, nationality, or sexual orientation.
